

Caverta

(sildenafil citrate) tablets

How Long does Caverta Lasts for?

The period of time Caverta continues to work will likewise differ from individual to individual, yet it has been seen that the effects of Caverta continues to stay for a period of 5-6 hours when it is taken along with an active sexual stimulant. Most men will discover, in any case, that the impacts of Caverta will begin to diminish two to three hours after first consuming it.

There are sure components that will add to what extent Caverta will keep going for in your system, and it should be your utmost priority to talk about it freely with your physician. You should tell your full therapeutic history and presence of any medications to your doctor before starting a course of medication with Caverta.

Does Caverta have any Long-Lasting Effects?

It has been seen in extremely rare scenarios that a person is having an erection even after a period longer than four hours. This situation is known as priapism and can be identified with the presence of an extremely painful erection, even after four hours. If such conditions arise, one should immediately contact the doctor for emergency medical aid. If no care is taken in proper time, this situation can lead to permanent damage to the penis.

